

A Place to be Heard

The Quiver

Open Mic

Every first Monday of the month, starting June 5th, 7.15pm UK time, 2.15pm Eastern US time

A safe, validating space for people to read their writing in a community of others who care about language and creative expression. We will be more than an open mic: we will react to each poem, spend some time with it, celebrate its charms. We will be less than a workshop: all feedback will be positive and encouraging. A Zoom-based environment.

Hosts: Chuck Vandenberg and Jan Sargeant.

A former English teacher and a retired university lecturer sharing a passion for language and literature. They offer expertise with encouragement; informed commentary without criticism; incentive, not inhibition. You can share and read or just sit back, enjoy, and listen

Register with us - simply send an email address to amity4arts@gmail.com
Open to anyone who lives with Parkinson's or supports those that do, in any capacity, including friends.
